Lesson 122 Notes (Simplified / Traditional):

1. Fùxí can be used as a verb (to review) or as an adjective such as in fùxí kè

Fùxí	复习 / 複習	review
fùxí kè	复习课 / 複習課	review lesson

2. Bùfèn is used the same way in Chinese as it is in English, so it can also refer to a physical place. For example, if you went to a department store, you could look for the yīnyuè bùfèn .

Bùfèn	部分 / 部分	section
yīnyuè bùfèn	音乐部份 / 音樂部份	music section

3. The greeting Wǎn ān in Chinese can represent both “Good evening” and “Good night.”

Wǎn ān	晚安/ 晚安	good evening /good night
---------------	--------	--------------------------

4. The time zhōngwǔ represents a period of time between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. unlike the “noon” in English.

zhōngwǔ	中午 / 中午	noon
----------------	---------	------
